

WE NOMINATE

Four Princetonians — Suzanne Srait (Mrs. George H.) Fremont, Charles Shelby Rooks, Harvey D. Rothberg and Bonnie (Mrs. Arthur F.) Wagner who this past week stepped down from the Princeton Regional Board of Education, a volunteer board whose distinctive and provocative contributions to public education are watched intently by modern educators throughout the country. Together, the retirees have given some 15 years of concentrated effort to Princeton's schools during the critical period immediately before and after the June 1966 merger of the Princeton Borough and Township School Systems.

Mrs. Fremont, a member of the final Princeton Township school board; Dr. Rothberg and Mrs. Wagner, members of its counterpart in the Borough, all served by appointment on the interim Regional Board. From the start, they were part of a largely successful, three-pronged effort: unifying the schools, maintaining an onward thrust in scholastic leadership and meeting the tide of change that swept over public education. Long before election to the Board a year ago, the Rev. Dr. Rooks was the instigator of the "Focus on Skills" program that eased the way of 7th and 8th graders into high school, and he sparked the Board's quest for competent black teachers.

To Dr. Rothberg, a native of Plainfield and a graduate of Princeton in 1949 and Harvard Medical School in 1953, belongs the distinction of service as first President of the new Regional Board — a task he undertook with enormous resourcefulness and energy. The father of two daughters in the Princeton schools, he has unstintingly given long hours to school affairs, most recently in the tenuous negotiations leading to the Teachers' Agreement which now offers a promising career in Princeton to men teachers with families to support. An internist at Princeton Hospital since 1960, he is also the author of "The First 50 Years: A History of Princeton Hospital," published last year.

Mrs. Fremont, vice-president of the first Regional Board, and later its President, has brought sharp insight into the public schools' changing role — stemming largely from her vice-chairmanship of the 1963-64 Citizens' Advisory Committee on Long-range Planning for the Princeton Township Schools. Born in Shanghai, this self-described "Navy brat" and graduate of Barnard College, a free-lance writer, and mother of four daughters who have attended Princeton schools, has weathered factional concerns with patience and equanimity, maintaining an over-riding sense of the high ideals and potential of public education here.

Princeton was adopted some 35 years ago by Mrs. Wagner, a native of Tacoma, Washington, and a Whitman College alumna. With the unobtrusive strength of character that is her hallmark, she was among the founding members of Messiah Lutheran Church, an 8-year appointee to the Borough Board of Health and, as a parent of three daughters, an active member of the PTA. "Her special contribution of calm and measured judgment has been critically important," Schools' Superintendent McPherson said last week. The North Carolina-born Rev. Dr. Rooks, who has been affiliated with the Fund for Theological Education since 1960 and its director for the past three years, has been an outstanding — and welcomed — contributor to board decisions, particularly on matters of drugs and race.

For their wisdom as architects of the Regional School System; for their sense of purpose and perspective through extraordinarily difficult years; they are our nominees as

BUDGET PASSES
And Four Win Seats, Princeton voters passed their school budget comfortably at Tuesday's school elections and voted in three moderates and a conservative to the Princeton Regional School Board.

Borough: Dr. Henry J. Powsner with 457 votes and Mrs. Evelyn Geddes with 391 won the Borough's two seats. Defeated were Mrs. Edna M. Hunter with 293 and Mrs. Inez L. Hinds with 181.

Both Dr. Powsner and Mrs. Geddes are regarded as supporters of the present administration. Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Hinds have been backed by the conservative Concerned Citizens.

Township: Dr. Robert Bierman with 1,177 defeated Daniel Mager who received 652 for the Township's three-year seat. Philip Cruckshank with 778 won the two-year seat over Mrs. Ann D. Johnston with 547 and Burnett H. Sans with 515. Orlando Petrocchi, who with drew too late to have his name removed from the ballot, nevertheless pulled 39 votes.

Mrs. Cruckshank is a conservative critic of the board and of the Wednesday Program in particular. Dr. Bierman is regarded as a supporter of administration and board.

The Current Expense category of the budget won by 1,587 "yes" votes to 936 "no." In Capital Outlay, the tally was 1,618 "yes" to 904 "no."

Budget totals are far Bor- ough and Township combined. Since Princeton has a regional system, it's the total vote that counts. If either Borough or Township had defeated the budget, it would have passed anyway if the "yes" total had exceeded the "no."

Borough Margin Narrow. Within each municipality, the totals told differing stories. In the Borough, Current Expenses won by only 164 votes: 414 "yes" to 250 "no." In the Township, on the other hand, Current Expenses passed by almost two to one: 1,173 to 626.

With Capital Outlay, the story was the same. In the Township, this action of the budget won by 1,212 over 299, while in the Borough it skinned through with only a 101 vote margin: 406 to 305.

The figures are $5,180,500 for Current Expenses and $12,090 for Capital Outlay ("Land, buildings, equip- ment").

An informal count tallied 3,160 voters who pulled the lever in the voting booth, a relatively heavy vote for a school election.

"It's one of the hardest fought school elections I've seen," commented Board president John Marks. "The feelings of the community were firmly expressed."

"I think Princeton is to be congratulated for supporting the budget," he continued, "by supporting it, we've saved the school board and municipal officials a great deal of time and work. Now we can get on with the business of the school."

If the budget had been defeated, it would have gone to Borough Council and Township Committee and the two mayors for settlement. This arrangement is under a new state law. Two years ago, when the budget was defeated, the law required a second vote. In 1964, it was not until that second defeat, that the budget went to municipal officials.

TWO BUDGETS BACKED. In Hopewell and W. Windsor, Regional school budgets received voter approval Tuesday in Hopewell Valley and West Windsor Plainsboro. In the latter two municipalities, where no races were involved, the affirmative vote on the budget ran 10 to 1 over the opposition.

Hopewell Valley, the first regional school board in Mercer County, produced a turnout of less than 10%. The current expense question was approved, 453 to 211, capital outlay, 444 to 213.

Three incumbent members of the board were returned to office for three-year terms: John Cartwright, a member since the board was formed five years ago, polled 241 votes. His running mate from Hopewell Township, John Puglisi, also was elected with 220 votes, while the loser in the three-way race was Mrs. Cyn- thia Ward with 225.

Running from Pennington without opposition, Dr. James Miller received 191 votes. No vote was open from Hopewell Borough.

COME TO BATTLEFIELD. Meeting This Thursday, The reserves have been called out in such force that Princeton's battlefield hearing has been moved to the auditorium of Community Park School. It was to have been in Township Hall. Day and hour are unchanged: this Thursday at 8 p.m.

Presiding over the Community Park all purpose room will be Joseph Truncer, director of the division of parks and forestry of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Thumbing through his files, Mr. Truncer says he already has nine letters to be read into the proceedings, and eleven phone calls (that's the most recent count) from people who have statements or resolutions to present verbally. Mr. Truncer has extended his deadline, and although the hearing is this Thursday, he will receive letters into the record through February 13.

The road leads back, of course, to the purchase of land. Continued on Next Page by the Institute for Advanced Study for construction of about 10 faculty houses. The land, known as the Wedler Tract, adjoins both Battledfield Park and the property of Princeton University.

Monthly Meeting of the Religious Society of Friends. The Institute took its character as a plan for houses by the Township Planning Board, met with distressed comments from historians, conservationists and Friends and finally found itself confronted by the state, which just may want to lay up more land for a bigger Battledfield Park.

On Thursday's program will be a battery of speakers from the new Princeton Battledfield Committee. Kyrle Winter, state geologist, and a military historian, will present an analysis of the Battle of Princeton, why a plan he's drawn up for an "ideal" Battledfield Park.

The plan would extend the present acreage all the way to Stony Brook and to World's Mill on Stockton Street.

William Short, chairman of the new Committee, emphasizes that any expanded Battledfield would be for historic purposes only and not for holiday stand recreation.

The area has mass graves of both British and American dead, he explained, and under state law cannot be used for active recreation.

Mrs. Constance Greiff, for the Committee, will present her proposals for developing the site in more detail, rebuilding old structures and using an old barn for a historic diorama.

PLANNERS MEET

In Borough Hall, it was Township night in Borough Hall Tuesday as the new Princeton Regional (that is, Borough Township) Planning Board settled in for its first real business session. It organized itself for action only last month.

Township resident, Ilana K. Souder, chairman of the Township Planning Board and newly elected chairman of the Regional Board, sat in the Borough mayor's chair in the Council chamber while everyone listened to the problems involved in Township subdivisions.

The big one — Princeton Theological Seminary's cluster zoning plan for 34 faculty homes on Mt. Lucas Road — was tabled for discussion. The Seminary has ranged as 34 lots with 22 acres of open space, most of it around the edge, with about six acres in the hole of the doughnut. Mount Lucas Road being where it is, most of the land left in open space is rugged, rocky and wooded.

"We're delighted," said Thomas Cook for the Open Space Committee.

"It is an excellent use of the land," commented Daniel Weiss, a neighbor at 501 State Road.

Things aren't begin until "late spring" because development awaits completion of the Montgomery Township sewer plan, and construction of a Princeton Township sewer line south from the Montgomery in Battledfield and Mt. Lucas.

The plot will be developed slowly over a period of years, perhaps a decade, the Seminary says. It is designed for senior faculty and administrative staff.

My only concern is that it perpetuates a one-class community," observed Planning Board member James A. Floyd.

Frank Reiche, counsel for the Seminary, pointed to the institution's purchase of apartments in West Windsor and construction of a dormitory-residence hall in the Borough as examples of Seminary awareness of lower-income staff.

Action on a request by Albert Salzman to be relieved of some road and drainage stipulations in the 1967 approval of his preliminary plans was deferred until next month.

HAWAII AND AFRICA
To Family Film Show. The family film program on Tuesday evening at the Public Library will include "Shades of Puffing Billy," "The Expulsion of Kilauea," and "Tropical Africa."

The first film is a children's train ride through the countryside of Australia, the second is a documentary of the 1869 eruption in Hawaii, and the third film is an attempt to show the new Africa as it goes through political and social change.

The entire program will be free, in the second-floor reading room of the library at 8 p.m. It will last about 70 minutes.

Princeton vs. Penn Central. The Pennsylvania Railroad — pardon, the new and modern Penn Central — has this idea it might possibly change the name of the Princeton Junction station to "Princeton" and the name of the University Place station to "Princeton University."

There hasn't been so much fuss in town since the first time the 7:32 came in late.

It's just a proposal, Penn Central spokesmen say hastily. Nothing has been really decided.

Well, here in Princeton it has. Township Committee on Monday night took a stern and foresquare stand against the whole idea. Voted a unanimous "no!" (well, almost unanimous: Committeeman Dean Ciaice hadn't gotten to the meeting, yet) and directed Administrator Joseph R. Nini to write a lofty communication to Penn Central suggesting discussions with Township officials before final action is taken.

(Penn Central had conferred only with the Borough until that point, perhaps not realizing that there are two Princetons, as well as a couple of Princeton railroad station.)

Anyhow, the pool speaks for itself.

A Thousand Times No! "It will not serve our constituency if this happens!" declared Committeeman William L. Wilson, who had asked Committee to act. (He's a Penn Central commuter).

"I foresee," he said darkly, "real estate ads in the New York Times offering homes 'one mile from Princeton' — in West Windsor!"

"Is this," brooded Mayor John D. Wallace, "the first step toward eliminating the run completely?"

"The run," of course, is the shuttle known for years as "the dinky," a kind of train that chugs from Princeton to Princeton Junction and back, chiefly bearing commuters who wish for reasons of their own, to reach the main line of the Penn Central railroad.

Now, Now . . . Things were calmer in the Borough, Mayor Robert W. Cawley smiled and said well, the Borough had no objection to changing the name of the Princeton Junction station, but didn't care much for re-naming the station down on University Place.

"We might settle for 'Princeton - University Place' — with a hyphen — or Princeton-College Road," the mayor commented "but we definitely want 'Princeton' in the name."

A Visitor. A man named James V. Diffenderfer, whose title is Assistant Vice president for Special Service for Penn Central, called Mayor Cawley up and asked if he could come to Princeton and talk it over.

"He told me Penn Central loses money on the shuttle," the mayor reported, "gets about $10,000 in revenue and spends about $110,000."

Mr. Diffenderfer expanded to the mayor on Penn Central's plans: raised platforms at the Junction, maybe, to provide "Metroliner stop capability." And bigger parking lots, too.

Moving the University Place station was discussed, the mayor reported, and Mr. Diffenderfer said Penn Central would be willing to move it. (In the past, P.C. has said it would be delighted to move it, providing somebody else pays — probably Princeton University.)

Mayor Cawley brought up the subject of buses — the Borough is thinking about buses these days — and Mr. Diffenderfer was "enthusiastic" about a bus route which might supplant the dinky's run.

(For other thoughts about Penn Central and transportation, see "Mailbox," Page 16.)

HOPEWELL OKS SEWER

Now We Have Four. The fourth and crucial municipality has voted to authorize engineering studies for a regional sewer.

Hopewell Borough Council passed the required resolution unanimously Monday night. Previously, Hopewell Township, Princeton Borough and Princeton Township had taken the necessary action.

Approval by four of the seven participating towns in the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Group was necessary before the group could go to the state and ask for money to make engineering plans. The other three municipalities are West Windsor, Pennington and South Brunswick.

The "Group" expects to be rechartered an "Authority" this year, but all seven communities must pass enabling ordinances during 1970 before the Authority can be established.

BUDGETS AHEAD

Borough, Township, Municipal budgets will be introduced in Borough and Township next week and the advance word is "up."

The Borough's budget will be introduced at Council's regular February meeting next Tuesday at 8. The Township's will be introduced at a special Committee meeting to meet the state's deadline next Monday at 5 p.m. in Township Hall.

"We've held the Borough budget tight for the past few years so we could keep the total budget down while school costs were climbing," explained Borough Mayor Robert W. Gwaley. "Now we've got a lot to catch up on."

He named salaries and road projects as items that will swell the Borough's budget. University Place and Cleveland Lane may be on the repair and rebuilding list, he said.

Winter returned to these parts about 8:45 Tuesday night. After a drop of 25 degrees on the thermometer in less than three hours, a couple of inches of snow arrived to the accompaniment of wind that gusted up to 40 miles an hour.

The thaw which had produced a record high on Monday of 56 degrees came to an abrupt end. Despite the fact that the Ground Hog never saw his shadow, winter will hang on for quite a while. Snow flurries are again a possibility late Thursday, and the thermometer is scheduled to remain generally below freezing right through the weekend.

other offices in the building had been disturbed, according to P.D. Anthony Gayford. He said that the top drawer of Dr. Blumenthal's desk had been pried open by a sharp instrument.

WOMAN RAMS TREE.

Station Wagon "Totaled." A 59-year-old Township woman was injured at 8:17 Monday evening when her station wagon on went off Snowden Lane, 25 feet past the entrance to Herrontown Woods and struck a tree. Her car was adjudged a total loss.

Dr. Helen T. Woolbridge, 360 Herrontown Road, was taken to Princeton Hospital where she was treated for a laceration of her left leg. Fourteen sutures were required to close the wound.

According to the investigating officer, P.D. Mario Musso, Dr. Woolbridge told him she was driving along at a normal rate of speed but was unable to remember anything about what took place or what caused her to leave the road. She was the only person in the car. He issued her a summons for careless driving.

THREE ARE FINED

In Borough Court, Three motorists were fined in Borough traffic court Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. John W. Kalmbach, 25, 28 Jefferson Road, was fined $15 for failing to yield to a pedestrian. Careless driving cost Franklin H. Moss, 20, a Princeton University student, $15. Both pleaded not guilty.

George R. Wonnack, 31, of Trenton, was fined $205 and had his license revoked for two years for drunken driving. In a special session of court last week, second Trenton resident, Gordon H. Hunt, received the same fine and revocation for drunken driving. He is an employee at Princeton Hospital.

In a criminal court session held in January, Linda Lockhart, 18, 291 Witherspoon Street, pleaded not guilty to a charge by P.D. Bernard Lenhardt shoplifting a $9.98 alarm clock November 10 from a Nassau drug store. She was found guilty and fined $10 and $10 court costs.

A companion of Miss Lockhart at the time, Rebecca Goode, 19, 241 Birch Avenue, was charged with unlawful possession of a prescription legend drug when police found a bottle of eight capsules in her handbag. Judge Tams suspended sentence and cost when police were unable to prove the capsules were a narcotic or drug.

Fred T. Skirvorth, 18, Holm Road, Skillman, was remanded for action by a Mercer County Grand Jury. He had been charged with possession of a stolen .32 caliber pistol.

Charged with stealing $10 from a Dillon Gym locker. —Continued On Page 11

TWO FROM O'NEILL: "Ah, Wilderness!" isn't all youthful puppy-love anguish. Here is Gordon Phillips as Uncle Sid the wayward, with Beth Dixon as Aunt Lily who loves him, but . . . Eugene O'Neill's gentle comedy is now in repertory at McCarter. (Jim McDonald Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

O'NEILL, MELLOW

A book of verses underneath the bough. A jug of wine, a loaf of bread — and thou beide me singing in the wilderness — Ah, wildernesses were Paradise once!

— Omar Khayyam

Eugene O'Neill in a rare mood of mellowness and intimate drew a loving family circle around the mooning young adventurer boy in "Ah, Wilderness!", and this mood of mellowness and gentle humor has been affectionately sustained in the McCarter production of O'Neill's comedy that has moved into the repertory settle.

For subscribers who follow
McCarter repertory, this "Ah, Wilderness!" provides a nice chance to see actors in the company who normally play smaller sustaining roles. For the actors themselves it must be good to have a full-bodied part instead of a listing at the bottom of the cast.

Richard Picheur is the most outstanding example. You've probably forgotten dorking old Antonio in "Much Ado" or the Viceroy in "Pygmalion," both played by Mr. Picheur, but you won't forget Richard Miller, aged 16 in a snappy
black belted green jacket, spouting Shakespeare and horrified his mother with some pretty darned socialist stuff from that man Shaw who wrote those dreadful plays.
It's 1906 in Connecticut, the Fourth of July. This young rebel feels so strongly about the Establishment he's not at all sure we ought to celebrate the Fourth and maybe it would be better if we still belonged to England. If they'd had SDS in 1906, he just might have belonged.

Another actor who slips forward into the lights is John Braden, seen here as Richard's father Nat, owner of the town newspaper and an understanding, loyal father who doesn't really think Shaw and the Rubiyat are all that bad.
Mr. Braden is splendidly cool. He draws Nat Miller with just the right blend of prosperous self-satisfaction and very human ability to chuckle at his own weaknesses.

His wife Emie is the partly Lella Cannon, who played He-rry Higgins' mother in "Pygmalion." The "land sakes!"
nature of this role makes it somewhat less easy to put a cross to a modern audience
the rule of Nat, with its almost-modern shades of characterization, and yet Miss Cannon does good work as the worried mother of a wayward juvenile.

Perhaps the most memorable and delightfully surprising member of this cast is Gordon Phillips as Sid, the uncle whose unsteady feet know all too well
the path to the nearest saloon.
Mr. Phillips, frequently a rather wooden performer, here shows us all the warm, teddy-bear charm of a middle-aged man who can't leave the bottle alone. He makes thoroughly believable Aunt Lily's hopeless affection for him and her gentle resignation to accept him as he is — and not make the mistake of marrying him.

Beth Dixon as ginger Aunt Lily, Holly Villare as the flower who suspects that Richard is almost as young as he is. (Continued on Next Page)

"TITICUT FOLLIES" HERE
Banned in Massachusetts,
you can see "Titicut Follies"
in Massachusetts because this stark documentary, filmed at the Massachusetts state prison hospital in Bridgewater, has been banned in Mass.
You can, however, see it here Tuesday at 8 at McCarter.
Tickets are on sale now, and all seats are unreserved.

"Titicut Follies," produced by Frederick Wiseman, is a frank account of life behind the walls of a state institution for the criminally insane. In the words of one critic, "The documentary of Bridgewater is one of hopelessness punctuated by outbursts of unthinking violence. The movie avoids nothing it reveals once a gain the seemingly infinite capacity of man to visit inhumanity on his fellow man."

"Titicut Follies" has been viewed for adults and persons under 18 will not be admitted to McCarter.

also, at 8:30.

The play, described as "a funny and lively comedy," tells us about the Bonnard family and the ways a conspiracy to teach the facts of love to its youngest member. When a French maid appears, the teaching staff is complete.
Daniel Berkowitz and William Hooking will co-direct.
Mr. Berkowitz directed "A Man for All Seasons" for Intimate and Mr. Hooking played Sir Thomas More.

In "The Happy Time," Mr.
Berkowitz will play Mr. Frye,

To benefit Goucher Club.
The Goucher Club of Princeton will present a benefit performance of "Dog of Flanders," at the Princeton Playhouse on Lincoln's birthday, Thursday,
February 12, at 12:30.
This third annual children's movie benefit is being held during the winter vacation
as a community service, and all proceeds will go to the Goucher College Scholarship Fund.

The film is based on the classic tale of the same name
by Louis de La Hame, Goucher club president Mrs. Robert Huller describes it as a "treat for all ages." It is the story of a young Flemish boy and his dog who were orphaned and destitute, and the film's introduction has received a rating of 3 1/2 stars. David Ladd and Donald Crisp have the lead roles.

Tickets at 75 cents each are available from Allen's Chil-

West State St. and Parkside Ave., Trenton.

In "The Spring of Life," the interrelationship of water and nature is explored in a variety of settings, New England and Florida swamps and two oceanic islands, Bonaventure and Macinac Island. Stunning close up photography focuses on the alligator, ibis, heron, egret, osprey, duck, puffer and greater shearwater.

READING SCHEDULED
for Players Club Session.

The Princeton Community Players Club will have its monthly meeting Sunday at the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road.

Scotty Bluch, who has appeared professionally, will give a reading after the close of the general meeting, which opens at 8:30. All persons interested in theatre activities are welcome to attend.

CHILDREN'S PLAY SET
by Pennington Players, Inc.

The Pennington Players, Inc., celebrating their 11th year of Children's Theatre productions, will present at several area schools during the month of March, "The Kingdom of The Tiger," a story of India.

Mrs. June Woolford will direct the Players production and Mary Ann Salvatore will act as producer, with Joan Erickson as set designer. Costumes will be by Jay Fortune and props will be handled by Joanne Hoffman. Susan Woolford will do the choreography.

In the cast of "The Kingdom of The Tiger" is Michael Orlando, an experienced actor, who will play the part of the Rajah-Rama. Mr. Orlando has been seen in Players' productions as Ali Hakim in "Oklahoma!"

Mrs. Max Debusler, in "Sound of Music," both productions being held at the Open Air Theatre of Washington Crossing Park.

Mark Spers will portray the part of Kaabebe, the play's young hero. Mr. Spers has been seen at Hopewell-Central High as Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls" and several parts in both "The Apple Tree" and "Carousel."

Princessa Yasmin, the romantic interest of "The Apple Tree," will be played by Colleen Thompson, who also has been seen in many Central High productions.

Sandra Jefferson will play the part of Amah, the nurse to the Princesses. Miss Jefferson has been seen in many Children's Theatre productions for the Players, her first being Winnie in "Winnie The Pooh" in 1963. This past summer she was seen at the Washington Crossing Park Open Air Theatre as Frau Schmidt in the "Sound of Music" and Becky in "Catalissa."

The Pennington Players are a Community Theatre group who meet the last Tuesday of every month in the Old Fire House, Main Street, Pennington. Mrs. Bess Peterson reports that they encourage anyone interested in Community Theatre to join them at these meetings.

The Johnson Park School PTU will sponsor a performance of "The Kingdom of The Tiger" at the John Witherspoon School on Saturday, March 14 at 7:30. Any organization interested in having the Players performed, as a fund raising event, may do so by contacting their Children's Theatre Chairman, Sandra Jefferson, at 924 5296 between 5 and 7:00 p.m. weekdays.

GARDEN

Patsy Swope is a satire that drew crowds in New York City when it opened last August.

It has a zany, episodic plot, centered upon a piebald shift from white to black in a large advertising agency on Madison Avenue.

The shift is entirely accidental. Board members, casting votes for a new president, quickly write in the name of the man they think least likely to receive a vote from any one else. Thus, Patsy Swope, a black, becomes head of the "Truth & Soul Agency."

His brothers and sisters wear African dashikis, grey flannels, cowboy and Arab dress. The ads they turn out spoof our tenderest misconceptions. Such as the one with the couple who met at a Yale Howard game, praising the wonders of Face-Off Pimple Cream.

The director, Robert Downey, attacks all the hang-ups of both black and white America.

Playhouse, Princeton, Trent

Topaz (now playing) Here's Alfred Hitchcock again with material to his liking in the intrigues of international spies set against a background of actual events. The realism is based on the efforts of United States' and French agents to secure data on the installation of Russian missiles in Cuba in 1962, and subsequent charges of infiltration of British intelligence at the highest level by Communist spies.

Hitchcock, of course, is not interested in quasi-documentary; he is out to place the audience in a state of suspense and keep it there by piling up cliff upon thrill. The cat-and-mouse game as suspense. Communist spies trail their detecting comrade in expertly handled. The international cat has no "names," but it was already selected.

IT'S NEW To Us

WANT A 10-FT. HOAGIE?

Call Aljon Number 2. Princeton now has a shiny, new shop that deals exclusively in those long, little-bat-of-everything good things called hoagies. (In some areas, they're known as submarines.)

Aljon number 2 opened this week at 157 Witherspoon St., an off-shoot of Aljon number 1 in Hightstown, where it's almost a cult. The young partners are James Albert (Al) Hope and John Walker (Walt) Freeman, who have been buddies ever since schooldays. They went to Freehold High School together, served in the Navy together, and worked at Decker's Dairy together, and one day, sitting around, decided to go into the hoagie business together.

Aljon number 1 opened in Hightstown 19 months ago and the partners discovered that "Everybody eats hoagies — kids, older people, the Peddie boys..." according to the Al of the partnership.

They work on a "call in — take out" basis. And the number is 901-9030. There are seven different kinds of hoagie

HOAGIES, ANYONE? Hoagies are the specialty of Princeton's newest shop, Aljon #2, which opened Mondays at 157 Witherspoon Street. That's James Albert Hope, the Al of the partnership, at the breadboard, making a fat, 14" submarine. John Walker Freeman is the other partner, and, for more on the store, see "It's New To Us."

to choose from. You can order a hoagie with provolone cheese, baloney and salami, plus all the mixings of tomatoes, onion, oregano, wine vinegar a bit of salt, for 95 cents. Or, provolone, pressed ham and salami, plus the mixings — or provolone, boiled ham and capicola (Italian ham); or a two-pounder filled with provolone, boiled ham, capicola, prosciutto and salami ($1.50).

The standard hoagie is in a 14" roll, and you can order a whole one or half, as you wish. And what's more, Aljon number 2 has roast beef hoagies, turkey hoagies and, on Fridays, tuna hoagies. Hot peppers are available if you want, plus a variety of extras to go with your meal, such as beverages, potato chips, and so on.

A VISIT TO THE MOUSE

On Nassau Street, The treat ther was undecided, but it looked a bit like rain, so we went down a flight of stone steps at 164 Nassau and dropped in on Country Mouse, in hopes that he might be serving tea.

It turned out he wasn't off and away to the granary we supposed — but it was nice and warm and fragrant in there, so we made ourselves comfortable and browsed through his things.

Thinking hungrily of tea and cinnamon toast, we were diverted by C. Mouse's small collection of cookbooks and leafed through the "Mountain Cookbook" from High Point, N.C. We noticed Quick Sweet TaterCobbler, and Maegle's Old Stone Stew. There was "pumpkin chips" relish and Tippy Cake and Persimmon Pudding.

We wondered if C. Mouse kept persimmons in his larder and decided that he didn't. The price he'd craved on the book was $1.25.

Turning to a much thicker pile, we found the "Cast Iron Cook Book" by Hester Callahan and put out by Nitty Gritty Productions of San Francisco. "Typical of C. Mouse's friends these days!" we thought sorrowfully, but were pleased to find ourselves mistaken.

Hester is a True Friend, the kind that struggles with Amer — Continued on Next Page colored "recalls" such as old nine eggs and "beat one hour" and turns them in for exploration of delicious food. Kentucky Burgoo, for instance, and Hunter's Chick en, Beef Beans, Ale Steak (4-ster Brothers, Graythb Sies, Prairie Butter, oages and pages of recipes and ink drawings. ($3.95)

Country Mouse has a shelf full of the Peter Pauper Press cook books, illustrated with woodblock prints. At only $1.25 each, we thought he'd come upon a very nice gift for a bride, letting her explore traditional German, Oriental, Italian and Jewish recipes and the "ALICE" of cookbooks, wine cookery and bullet men us.

C. Mouse had built a bit on expense around - balsam and bayberry, mainly - but we also noticed Madam Zor's Exotic and Mysterious Incense, which made us feel very thoughtful. We found scented oil in bottles for use in candles and kerosene lamps (79 cents) and lamps to burn in in molder with blue, green or orange hues and handblown glass ($2.50).

He has some very limited useful things, like God David's Sport Remover and a series of Country State metal dishes that come in handy: Box & Saddle Polish, Marble Cleaner and Polish, Candle Ad hesive, Easy Glide for truck drawers and zippers. All 50 cents each.

We've always thought Country Mouse had good reason to be complacent about his can collection. Every color, every size, every age - and even a few side - as pretty as the sunset.

One of the things that C. Mouse does well is hunt for his children's gifts that are expensive and different for party favors. For Grand ma to tuck into her suitcase, for a parent to put away for a rainy day, we found a major (99 cents), hand-sized opahall games, rubber stamp letters and ink pads, bookend banks of tigers, or monkey's or oaks, pull toys; dashboard $1.25, a handsome kit, a wood en purple cat in the shape of a camel, miniature dolls, and of course, all sorts of felt mice, nautically dressed ($1.25). There were hourglasses, ($1.25), mallard ducks to carve, a ladybug mobile, and many, many other pocket sized pre-ents.

C. Mouse still loves peacocks and we admired the range of bows, pitchers, linkards and mugs. He has flat plates and new or old plates, too, and has can dishcloths. All are reprinted ones by the Woodbury (Conn.) Press.

He has great batches of wall plaques that are country in style and thought. He must have been dusting in despair one day when he thought up "BLESS THIS MESS."

NEVER FEEL STUPID
About Stereo. One of the fast-growing fields in music is the high-fidelity stereo business that bewilders us all with new cabinets and such terms as analog-tuners, adapters, power control centers, quadrants, midrange speakers and multiple boxes-in-the-middle. To grope your way out of this, we suggest an RCA engineer turned-mechanic, Walter Hickman, who opened The Stereo Center in the Montgomery Shopping Center. Rocky Hall, just before last Christmas.

No longer with RCA, he handles the well-known and reliable brands of the stereo business: Ampex, AID, Altec Lansing, AR, Audio-tape, Beyer, Clark, Dual, Empire, EPI, Fisher, Garrard, Grado, JVC, K.H. Koss, Magnetec, Minicord, Ortofon, Pickering, Pioneer, Revco, Robinsons, Sansui, Scott, Shure, Sony, TEAC and Wharfedale.

All of which is by way of saying that he is able to equip a set of marvelous sound equipment for the music you love to hear, and work within your budget.

It may be that Mr. Hickman will start you off with the basics, and as you squirrel away a few more dollars, will tie in the secondary equipment that makes your stereo even more versatile.

If you care about music, then you know that accessories are all important. And your stereo set can be tailored to fit your space. Stereo is a long-term investment with the great, warm sound of actual performances. You can in time, tape record concerts, your children's voices, page music upstairs, and enjoy the finest music of our day, all through stereo. So catch up with Walter Hickman, when you're ready.

Parking Meter Revenue of $148,100 for 1969

Drivers fed the Borough's 1,011 parking meters last year at the rate of $148,124 as compared to $105,103 in 1968. The sharp increase is a reflection of the 50% boost in rates put into effect in November, 1968.

In fact, since September, 1960, when meters were first installed in the Borough, more than $1 million has been collected, according to John O'Neill who is responsible for the repair, maintenance and collection of the meters. "Actually, we are easily a couple of hundred thousand dollars on our way into the second million," he reports.

Another source of revenue, as many drivers are aware, is parking fines. In 1969, the Borough's Violations Office collected $103,887 in motor vehicle fines and parking, the vast majority of which stemmed from the 25,906 parking summonses issued. Of the $103,887 collected — an increase of nearly $13,000 over 1968 — $17,613 was turned over to the county and $1,301 to the state. And who said crime doesn't pay? In 1969, the Borough collected $2,215 in fines and costs assessed in criminal court by Judge Theodore T. Tams. The figure for 1968 was only $990.

Topics Of The Town

Jerome McGowan, 22, 246 John Street, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in the Mercer County Jail and placed on six months probation. Judge Tams then suspended the jail term.

Held for action by a Grand Jury were Courtney A. Irving, 16, 35 Clay Street, Stephen Woolford, 18, 120 Witherspoon Street, and Alfred R. Van Lieuw, 19, 90 Leigh Avenue. They had been charged with breaking and entering the student center on the University campus. A second charge against Van Lieuw of possession of narcotics was dismissed.

DRUG STUDY SUPPORTED

By Township, Princeton Township Committee unanimously gave its support Monday night to the proposed Youth Concerns Committee drug abuse study, the vote was 4-0. Committeeman Dean Osure was absent at the time. Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said on Tuesday that he thinks Borough Council will second the Township's action next Tuesday. The question will be on Council's February agenda in any case.

"This is another step forward in working with the drug problem," declared Township Mayor John D. Wallace. He said that he and Committee man Thomas Hartmann will be liaison with Youth Concerns, and will make sure the group makes a full report on its activities. Administrator Joseph R. Nini already attends Youth Concerns' monthly meetings.

PARKING GARAGE NEEDED

As Hospital's Problems Grow, Construction and operation of a multi-level parking garage at Princeton Hospital is seen as the only practical solution to its constantly perplexing parking problem, according to George W. Conover, president of the board.

He made the comment in response to complaints about a shortage of parking spaces. Snow and ice conditions congested traffic and parking areas while the Hospital was filled to capacity, so that the demand for parking places was at the maximum level, Mr. Conover explained.

"We hear unhappy comments about parking from patients and their visitors, the physicians who attend them, our employees who serve them and the corps of voluntary workers who help us all," said Administrator John W. Kauffman.

"We provide more than 400 parking spaces, but the demand is for more. All the open space the Hospital owns already has been blacktopped for parking and we have leased some other areas nearby," Mr. Kauffman added.

More Construction Planned.

"The Hospital is planning construction of more health care facilities — such as the much needed enlarged emergency center — and this will require the use of more land currently used for parking," Mr. Conover explained. "A multi-level parking garage, with the possibility that some floors would be underground, is the only economical use of our land in the future. The parking facilities might be combined with a building to be used for offices, apartments or other health care service," he pointed out.

A small fee would be charged all persons using the parking garage. Since it would provide an income, financing the construction may be easier. "For at the moment the Hospital hasn't a penny to spend on a parking project," Mr. Conover declared.

At present, the Hospital has some 230 parking spaces on its Franklin Avenue lot, used primarily by the more than 600 employees in three work shifts. There are over 200 more spaces directly adjoining the Hospital and Medical Arts Buildings.

Uniformed security men are on duty to aid visitors, control traffic and parking as a part of the Hospital's general safety program, Mr. Kauffman said. "When all of our parking areas are filled, our Security Department is suggesting that autos can be left at Community Park. The parking area there along Witherspoon Street is only a short walk to the Hospital or to physician's offices in the Medical Arts Buildings," he noted.

FAMILY SERVICE AT PLAY: Not quite: Family Service at work, is a better term. The dolls on the table are used therapeutically in working with children and adults who come to the Family Service United Fund agency for help. Seymour Plawsky (right) is executive director. With him are three new social workers (left to right) Mrs. Barbara Steinberg, Mrs. Hendrica Kim and Mrs. Willa Bywaters.

Three bright-eyed young case workers, dedicated to reaching out into the Princeton community, have joined the staff of the Family Service Agency.

They are Mrs. Barbara Steinberg, who lives in Kendall Park; Mrs. Willa Bywaters, who lives in the Magna Apartments with her football coach husband and Mrs. Hendrica Kim, who is a Seminary wife living at 100 Stockton in Princeton.

Seymour Plawsky, executive director of Family Service, keeps a fatherly eye on all three as they work together in the Agency's offices in Dorset House, 120 John Street.

"We're concerned with the total range of the family," he explains eagerly, "from the toddlers to the old folks. Mothers come in here when they're over-anxious about how they're doing with a three-year-old. And middle-aged people consult us about getting an aging parent into a nursing home."

Mrs. Bywaters has been calling on Princeton's black families, outlining the services offered by the Agency, and thinking, as she meets and talks with people, about new programs Family Service might develop.

"I point out to people that Family Service isn't welfare—that's a misconception I've run into frequently," Mrs. Bywaters says. "Mostly, however, I've been learning about the town, talking with people who really know about Princeton—ministers, beauty parlor owners, nurses, teachers at the high school. . . ."

Mrs. Steinberg has a slightly different beat. "I've been doing some pre-marital counseling at Princeton High," she says. "Seniors, in a Mental Health class. We talk about sex, about relations with your parents, and about post-marital problems that can develop with your parents and friends after you're married. Illegitimate children, pre-adolescent problems—a wide range."

Mrs. Kim is liaison with the Princeton Nursery School and her principal job is to interview parents who want to send their toddlers there.

And all three, of course, have what social workers call a "case load"—a portfolio of individuals and families with problems that need professional help.

"We give counsel to families who have elderly parents or young teenagers or to couples who are having trouble holding a marriage together," Mr. Plawsky goes on.

"And we help individuals, too, like the man who can't seem to hold a job, or the woman who doesn't think she's a good mother. We know where to send families for specialized help—to a doctor, for example, or to welfare, if they need it."

Experience is necessary before a social worker can offer this kind of help, of course, and Family Service's three new case workers have substantial portfolios of their own.

Mrs. Kim, for example, taught high school for three years and spent two years teaching in an American high school in Korea before earning her Master of Social Work degree in June of 1969.

She did field work in mental health outpatient clinic in Grand Rapids and at the Children's Psychiatric Center in Eatontown, N. J.

Mrs. Bywaters spent five years as case supervisor with Shape Up or Else!

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is a copy of a letter I have written to Stuart Saunders, Chairman of the Board of the Penn Central Corporation. The performance of the Penn Central, from the point of view of Princeton commuters alone, has moved in the last few months from merely degenerate to almost suicidal. There is no relation between schedule and performance. One hour delays are so common that the morale of commuter and conductor alike is at an all time low.

We realize that the current diseased condition is the result of many years of careful preparation by the railroad, so we cannot blame for miraculous cure.

Consequently, I am organizing a Committee of 100 Princeton Commuters who are willing to pledge their political and economic support to any long range plan which you may have for bringing about a cure.

We ask that you transmit with a plan — even if it depends on federal or state action which may not be forthcoming — to the New York Times Transportation Editor.

Since many of us already have dozens of unanswered or artfully dodged correspondence with you and other Penn Central officials, we feel, regrettably, that we need, in an ultimatum if no plan

More Thoughts on Commuting.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Penn Central public relations office in New York announced a contemplated change in its station here to "Princeton University" and "Princeton" respectively. These changes would "more clearly" indicate both places.

As a commuter of some 11 years on the facility concerned, I should like to express my surprise that the railroad has an entity concerned with its relations with the public. I thought that Commodore Van derbilt had expressed it all previously.

Inasmuch as the Penn Central is currently being sued by the New York State Public Service Commission because of ultra tenesness, and is in the process of being fined $250,000 by the State of New Jersey for the same ailment, it is mildly surprising that the railroad has single time to concentrate in trivia. Why not rename the Junction, "Lambert" of Princeton and the "Holl" of New York?

Here, in "Lambert," we have our own daily "Waiting for Godot," or "where is the New York train?" Some of us soon realize that all times listed on the schedule are approximations representing the ideal and are, in no way, binding upon the management.

The record shows that delays occur mostly in two kinds of weather — heavy freezing and above freezing. If we have nowhere in particular to go and no time in particular to get there, the Penn Central is an option.

In the winter you have your choice of sitting in the rear of the train in a cold car or standing up front in a warm one. The little gangs that the railroad acquired from the New Haven to add to the old Penn Central stock require no comment.

The new "Jersey Arrows" have been others — as well as the "sixty wounded" loaded onto wagons for treatment later. It is unrealistic to expect attention" as many people as might be expected to crowd in short of midway. This, other with the battle. The Meeting House is only about 300 yards from the Thomas Clarke place where Captain Henry's light infantry was stationed under cover of the house and barns to protect Moulder's battery on the Thomas Clarke hill.

Health Ratings Alarming.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Recently I noticed that the A & P's health rating has slipped from its normal B to C. A & P's continues to limp along, with a B. Markers in B are rated A. If the Board of Health.

The A & P's has rating, the people at the Board of Health have assured me, is not unduly alarming. If conditions were at C rating at the A & P's, the Board has the authority to close down the establishment. Present conditions nevertheless alarm me enough so that I have been marketing at other groceries if I should like to express my regret and disavowment.

The Princeton Board of Health periodically inspects all foodhandling establishments, and its findings are published. Any place that sells food is required to display its rating sign.

The health board, having graded C rating at the A & P's, pleases it to the store to improve its sanitary conditions. Failing that, it is up to the consumers to exert a bit of pressure.

I expect that the A & P will manage to get back to its B rating. If it should fail to do so, then I think that we must all consider taking our food business elsewhere. Moreover, I suggest that if A & P's is in the space of two or three months, cannot turn in an excellent health rating, then it should consider marketing elsewhere. No doubt a reduced volume of business would encourage both markets to clean up their stockpiles and shelves.

Expand Battlefield Park.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter sent to the State of New Jersey, Department of Conservation, concerning the public hearing to be held in Community Park School on Thursday at 8 p.m. Most authorities now grant that the Battles of Trenton and Princeton were the turning point of the American Revolution; and time when the crowds, discouraged American troops were suddenly successful.

Trenton is already too built up to make a sizeable commemorative park there, but at Princeton there is a nucleus in the present Battlefield Park. Much of the extensive battlefield and land related to it is outside of the present Battlefield Park. This could yet be incorporated to make one great commemorative unit.

As I write, the woods between the present park and the old stone Quaker Meeting House to the southwest of the present park are projected as a housing development for the Institute for Advanced Study, a private institution. This area should be a part of the Battlefield Park.

While Robert Lawrence, who wrote the contemporary brief narrative account of the Battle of Princeton, mentions "above 20 wounded" carried to the William Clarke house (since burned down), "several" brought to the David Olden house, where he (Robert Lawrence) was, and General Mercer carried to the Thomas Clarke house — Dr. Benjamin Rush indicates "a Captain McPherson" was there, too, and there may peripheral areas. Some of the land is already lost. Let us hasten and save what is left before it is too late.

This could be more than a great park to commemorate the turning point of the American Revolution. It would give trees and open space to future generations.

ELIZABETH G. C. MCENZIES
926 Kingston Road

The Meeting House, though it may have been beyond Robert Lawrence's line of vision, was close enough to the battle to have been a likely place of refuge in an area with few roads at that time. To fill the land between the present park and the Quaker Meeting House with a housing development would irretrievably ruin a part of the land that should be included in the Battlefield Park as part of the historic area.

Another consideration is that if the housing development is built, the fine vista across the present park would be spoiled forever, thus impacting on the present public area.

I urge the State to not only expand the Battlefield Park to include this land between the Thomas Clarke house and the Quaker Meeting House, but to take in other remaining peripheral areas. Some of the land is already lost. Let us hasten and save what is left before it is too late.

This could be more than a great park to commemorate the turning point of the American Revolution. It would give trees and open space to future generations.

FIVE NOMINATED

For Hospital Board. A minister, a banker and an architect have been nominated to serve on the Princeton Hospital Board of Trustees, while two members have been renominated in preparation for the 50th annual meeting on Tuesday, February 24. Nominations remain open until midnight on Sunday, according to Prof. John C. Whitwell, chairman of the nominating committee.

The trio of new nominees are:

The Rev. Harold A. Thomas, pastor of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church; John F. Hoff, a vice-president of the First National Bank; and Philip S. Collins, an architect with Collins, Uhl & Hoisington.

Renominated were Ralph S. Mason, of the law firm of Mason, Griffin and Moore, and Samuel Frothingham, a retired engineer.

Aiding Prof. Whitwell in selecting the candidates for the three-year terms were Richard W. Baker, Jr., also a trustee; Mrs. Ralph J. Sharp, Leslie L. Vivian, Jr. and Oliver V. Houghton, all representing the community-at-large.

BIRTHS

Seventeen Born. Six girls and 11 boys were born last week in Princeton Hospital.

Girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Steven Ficarro, 126-F Northgate Apartments, Cranbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Muscoliti, 62 Lawrence Court, both on January 25; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller, 1165 Hughes Drive, Trenton, January 26; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Toake, 7 Dover Lane, Hightstown, January 27; Mr. and Mrs. David Mikkelson, 70 Hastings Road, Kendall Park, January 29, and Mr. and Mrs. William Engler, 34 Linden Lane, January 30.

Boys were born to Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Livi, 93 North Main Street, Cranbury, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mount, Tower 66, Route 130, Hightstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gillette, 164 Cherry Hill Road, all on January 27; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rabin, 233

"Ice Bombers" Arrested

Pennsylvania State Police have arrested five teenage boys near Dwingenstown and changed them with having caused the death of Mrs. Marga Falvey, 41, of 56 Bennington Parkway, Franklin Park. They have been held for homicide without bail.

On the night of January 24, Mrs. Falvey was returning home on the Pennsylvania Turnpike when the windshield of the car in which she was a passenger was shattered by a large chunk of ice. Police contend that it was thrown from an overpass by the youths they now hold.

The driver of the car, Miss Carolyn Hales of Huntington Valley, and Wendell Miller of Belle Mead, another passenger, said that the windshield "exploded inward" on impact of the ice. Mrs. Falvey is believed to have died almost instantly from the head injuries she suffered.

Hartley Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stillwell, Village Road, East, Princeton Junction, and Mr. and Mrs. James Hudgings, 225-C Marshall Street, all on January 28; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Less, 1-C Maple Apartments, January 29; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Seip, Diabrow Hill Road, Hightstown, January 31; Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsizer, Crestview Apartments, Parlin, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Saeed, 6 Edwards Drive, Hightstown, both on February 1.

SCOUT AWARDS SET

For Annual Charter Dinner. Boy Scout Troop 88 will have its 27th anniversary banquet at the Methodist Church, Friday at 6:35. Herbert Hutchison, former Scoutmaster of the troop, will speak on "Scout Now - What Next?" - how a boy's experience as a scout relates to his role as an adult.

The Troop's 27th charter from the George Washington Council will be presented by William McCleery, the Stony Brook District Commissioner. The dinner is being prepared by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church.

In Princeton

MEMBERS SHOW ON VIEW
At McCarter During February. The juried members show of the Princeton Art Association is now hanging in the galleries of McCarter Theater and will be there through February. It is a mixed media show with a predominance of line prints.

Judith Brodsky's print "Anonymous Icon," which was a "first of the Show" award is a fine example of the high quality in this particular area of artistic endeavor. It is rich in color and symbolism.

The white areas which result from the pressure of the press on her irregularly shaped plate create an exciting textured counterpart to the finely etched and colored areas. Mrs. Brodsky says that she is "working in a 20th century contemporary, arriving at images that are not too specific but are suggestive of the tenor of our times and more specifically suggest the tension between the mechanical and humanistic pressures." She intends these symbols to have a mystical psychological impact on the viewer.

Skillful Line Work. "Man Is a Landscape" by Mae Hockland has a visually appealing impact, due in a large extent to the variety of line skillfully used to define as well as to create texture. When one looks a bit more closely, one perceives that it is a least than half a vessel of our landscape environment which may have permeated mankind to his inner core. It is easy to understand the artist's concern with today's environment.

"Crave Machine" by Marjorie

PRIZE WINNER: Judith Brodsky's "Anonymous Icon" was one of the best-of-show awards to the Art Association members' exhibit now at McCarter Theater.

Sturken has this two-fold impact of visual appeal and a hurried message. Helga Vergeard's "Yanowski Was Here" is a striking combination of white embossment against a background of stripes stressing the pressure of the press and strong black forms.

There is a general renewal of interest in realism in the art world exemplified by the state of articles in such magazines as "Art Forum" and "Art in America" and a renewed realism in the avant-garde galleries.

One interesting example on the Princeton scene in this genre is Rowan Boone's easel painting, "Self Service." His stark figures which make up the subject matter for this painting carry with them overtones of criticism of the harshness and lack of individuality of today's life. He uses monochromatic color and flat space to achieve an effect of homogeneity which might be part of the experience of today's student in the large university.

Contrasting Techniques. Hanging side by side are two diverse examples in the technique of watercolor by two artists with antithetical intentions. In the painting, "White Barn," competently executed by William J. Hawkins, we see a beautiful sunlit barn.

Every detail is spelled out. The artist has found the experience for us. It is complete. We need merely to look, we need to provide nothing more of ourselves than our eyes.

"Mountains of Nazamu" by Hiroko Yoshikawa can give us, the viewers, a quite different experience. Indeed, J. two artists with antithetical intentions. In the painting, "White Barn," competently executed by William J. Hawkins, we see a beautiful sunlit barn.

George Ann Gillespie's watercolor, "Saama Maple," is also a fine addition to this show. With her crisp and competent rendering, she creates a composition which sparkles. Other fine examples of her work.

A welcome addition to the show is Sharon Saffran's wall hanging. It is creative in the use of materials, strong and decorative in its use of color and design.

Dartmouth President Has Princeton Background

A Princeton University graduate has been appointed the thirteenth president of Dartmouth College.

Dr. John G. Kemeny, 41, will succeed on March 1 John S. Diekey who is retiring in his twenty-fifth year as president. Dr. Kemeny will be the first Princeton graduate and the fourth non-alumnus to serve as president of Dartmouth since the college was founded in 1769.

A philosopher-mathematician, Dr. Kemeny started his academic career 22 years ago as a research assistant to Albert Einstein. He was born in Budapest, Hungary, the son of a commodities export-import broker. In 1940, he was brought to this country by his parents to escape the Nazi tide.

Knowing virtually no English, he enrolled as a sophomore in New York City's George Washington High School. He graduated in January, 1943, when he was not yet 17 at the head of his class of nearly 1,000.

Summa Cum Laude Here, a month later, he entered Princeton in the first class under a war-time accelerated program. He graduated magna cum laude in 1947 — on schedule, despite a year and a half out for military service. In the army, while still in his teens, he was assigned to work under the celebrated Dr. John von Neumann, a Princeton resident, as a mathematician in the theoretical division of the Manhattan Project at Los Alamos, New Mexico.

Returning in Princeton in 1946, he received an A.B. degree and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa the following year as a major in mathematics. He also earned enough credits for a major in philosophy and for Advanced Study. After earning his doctorate in 1949, he immediately joined the faculty of Princeton as Fine Instructor in Mathematics, specializing in logic. In 1961, Dr. Kemeny shifted to the Department of Philosophy as an assistant professor.

While working for his doctorate in mathematics at Princeton, he was selected in 1942 to be research assistant to Professor Einstein who was then working on his Unified Field Theory at the Institute for Advanced Study. After earning his doctorate in 1949, he immediately joined the faculty of Princeton as Fine Instructor in Mathematics, specializing in logic. In 1961, Dr. Kemeny shifted to the Department of Philosophy as an assistant professor.

Chosen from Among 300 In 1963, he joined the Dartmouth faculty with a dual appointment as Professor of Mathematics and Philosophy. Seventeen years later, in the wake of a brilliant record of achievement at Dartmouth and in civic affairs in the Hanover community, he was named president of the ninth oldest institution of higher learning in the United States. His selection ends an 18 month search by a joint trustee-faculty committee which considered more than 200 leaders from all walks of life.

COIN-OP DRY CLEANING?

— Quotes from Clothing Manufacturers —

J. P. STEVENS & CO., INC.: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

HAGGAR COMPANY: "Dry clean in a coin-operated machine — no pressing needed."

BRENT: "These tailored slacks are specially treated to keep their all-over, permanently pressed shape. Front and back knife-sharp creases will last the life of the garment. Dry clean only... use coin-operated machine."

HEATHERDOWNE: "No pressing required when these slacks are cleaned in a coin-operated dry cleaning machine. Best results are obtained when garment is removed from machine as soon as cleaned, then smoothed and placed on hanger."

ROFANY BRANDS, INC.: "This slacks can be cleaned in any coin-operated dry cleaning machine."

We've been saying this all along! Coin-operated dry cleaning is an efficient, economical method, and we're pleased the garment manufacturers are helping us spread the good word.

Trousers, dresses, suits, blankets, sweaters, jackets emerge from our machines completely revitalized. Colors are fresh and the garments are free of wrinkles and chemical odor.

Dr. Ernest G. Wever, 29, Somerville, has been named recipient of the Bellone Institute Annual Award for 1969. The award, consisting of a plaque and an honorarium of $1000, will be presented in a ceremony at Princeton University, where Dr. Wever is Eugene Higgins Professor of Psychology.

The award is made yearly by trustees of the Bellone Institute for Hearing Research, in recognition of achievements in, and contributions to, the field of hearing research and education. Dr. Wever's direct scientific contributions include 40 years of service to hearing research. His early description of the electrical activity of the cochlea and nervous system are considered by many to be the start of physiological research in audition.

Judy Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Smith of 18 South Drive, Princeton Junction, has been accepted to enter Wesley College, Dover, Delaware, in the fall of the year. She is currently senior at Princeton High School.

Dr. Constance Veland, coordinator of Staff Development Programs for the Princeton Regional Schools, is a participant in a four-day conference sponsored by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare this week in Washington. The conference will provide recommendations to the U.S. Office of Education concerning training of pupil personnel workers in public schools.

Two Princeton area residents, Miss Christine Lear, assistant professor of health and physical education at Trenton State College, and Ronald Wilson, school psychologist at Princeton High, are among 40 persons attending the Methodology Institute in Drug Education being sponsored by the State Department of Education.

The participants will receive an intensive period of instruction in drug abuse and narcotic problems existing in New Jersey communities and schools, enabling them to assist school districts in the conduct of in-service programs and workshops on methodology in narcotic education.

Jean Jewett, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul N. Jewett of 680 A Kingston Terrace, Kingston, has formed a folk singing duet with another girl student at Wilson College in Chambersburg, Pennsylvania. The duet appeared on television last Thursday over WGAL-TV in Lancaster, Pa.

Miss Jewett, a junior, second soprano while Dorothy Lee, a sophomore from St. Albans, New York, sings second alto and plays the guitar. The girls, who are both music majors, formed the duet four months ago.

Engene R. Biringer, associate superintendent of Princeton Bernal Schools, has been elected a trustee member of the American Field Service, an international scholarship organization for teenage students. Mr. Biringer was chosen at the annual AFS meeting last week in New York.

He has been an active AFS volunteer, serving as a host parent for two years, an area representative, and a participant in the AFS Educators Program to the United Kingdom. Mr. Biringer lives in East Brunswick.

Airman Carl W. Suk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Suk, Route 206, Belle Mead, has graduated from the medical services specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas. He is being assigned to duty with the Aerospace Defense Command at Kincheloe Air Force Base, Michigan.

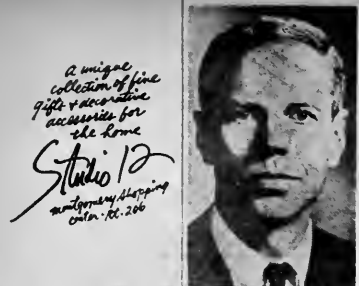

Airman Suk is a 1963 graduate of Somerville High School and received his B.S. in 1967 from Delaware Valley College, Doylestown, Pa.

MUSIC In Princeton

SECOND CONCERT HERE to Marlboro Off-Season Series.

The Marlboro Music Festival will present the second program in its "Music from Marlboro" series at 10 McCosh Hall Monday at 8:30. The program will feature works by Joseph Turner, pianist; Larry Combs, bassoonist; William Winsted, and John Bates, French horn. The program of chamber music masterworks, included will be the Nielsen "Quintet for Winds," Op. 43; Schubert "Introduction and Variations for Piano and Piano," Op. 16; and the Mozart "Quintet in E-flat for Piano and Winds," K. 452.

Nos in its fifth season, "Music from Marlboro" is being presented in 25 cities in the eastern and mid-western U. S. and Canada. Tickets are available at the Concert Office, Woodworth Center, on 1 weekday or at the door the evening of the concert. Tickets are priced at $12 for Princeton University students. There are no reserved seats.

JOINT CONCERT PLANNED
PTA Fund to Recell. Plans are underway for a joint concert of the Princeton High School Choir and the Princeton Chamber Orchestra on Wednesday, February 25. William Tregno will direct the choir and Nicholas Harsanyi will conduct the chamber orchestra. The program will be held in the John Witherspoon School Auditorium at 8, and proceeds will go to the Princeton High School PTA Scholarship fund.

Mrs. Leroy E. Purvis is chairman of the PTA scholarship awards committee, which has given grants to 120 students in the past 12 years. Each year grants ranging from $100 to $500 are given to ten or more students at Princeton High School.

Mrs. William R. White, PTA president, has announced the following committee chairman: Mrs. Donald Magill, patrons; Mrs. James D. Schwartz, posters; Mrs. Victor Bruce, program; Mrs. Donald J. Blattner, tickets; Mrs. Charles Bardwell, reception; Mrs. Burton Ford and Mr. James Lobenstein, program advising; Mrs. Theodore M. Vial, ushers, and Mrs. Winthrop S. Pike, publicity.

ANDIE WATTS NEXT
Piano Coming. In 1963 when the 16-year-old Andre Watts appeared as piano soloist for a Young People's Concert with the New York Philharmonic, the performance was so spectacular that Mr. Watts was tapped only three weeks later to substitute as a regular Philharmonic subscription concert when Glenn Gould was ill. He received, as one critic put it, "the season's wildest ovation."

The young pianist will appear in McCarter on Tuesday, February 17, at 8:30, performing Liszt's "Six Grand Etudes after Fugues," and works by Scarlatti, Mozart and Chopin. A few orchestra seats still remain at the box-office.

Mr. Watts was born in Germany, the son of an American and an Italian. His Italian wife He lived in various army posts for eight years, but he was to show in an Italian piano when he was only six and his mother, a good pianist herself, gave him his first lessons.

When the Watts family moved to Philadelphia, Andre was six at the time. Another year, when he was nine, he won, over 40 other young pianists, the privilege of playing a concerto at one of the Philadelphia Orchestra Youth Concerts.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO PLAY
In Friends' Concert. The Friends of Music at Princeton College present Geoffrey Michaels, violinist, in a concert for uncompensated violin at 10 McCosh Hall Monday at 8:30. Michaels was born in New York in 1944 and began playing the violin when he was five. At the age of 14 he won a national competition for violin and subsequently appeared throughout the country as a recitalist and soloist with the major orchestras.

In 1961 he entered the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia where he studied for five years with Elmer Zimbalist. He became a member of the Curtis String Quartet and a teacher at the New School of Music in Philadelphia. He spent the summer of 1969 participating in the Marlboro Music Festival, and now teaches violin at Princeton University. His program Friday will be sonatas by J.S. Bach, Bartok, Hindemith and Ysaye, and Recitatives and Scherzos by Kreisler. The concert is open to the public, admission free.

PIANO CONCERT SET
To Honor Seminary's Dr. Jones, Frank N. Smalling, can diditate for a doctorate in Theology, will present a public concert Thursday afternoon at the Curtis String Quartet and the Art Museum of Princeton Theological Seminary. The concert replaces the usual Thursday organ recital.

The performance is in honor of Dr. David Hugh Jones, the Seminary's Professor of Music, who will retire at the end of the current academic year. Mr. Smalling's concert is in recognition of Dr. Jones's musical contributions to the Princeton community and the life of the church.

The program consists of three compositions by Mr. Smalling: "The Mystical," "Panfare," and "American Youth Culture during the 1960's." The first was inspired by a study of the medieval mystic Meister Eckhardt; the second reflects the festive spirit of the Latin American people and was taken from the composer's "Latin American Suite." The third work was inspired by Mr. Smalling's friends and faculty advisor in pastoral counseling at Princeton Seminary. It portrays disillusionment with the false life styles and goals of the older generation, the "generation gap," and the need to acquire a sense of identity and an answer.

Mr. Smalling is a graduate of Western Michigan University, where he worked under the guidance of Dr. Holon Matthews, professor of contrapunt and composition. Originally from South Jamaica, he has appeared widely in the United States in performances of both sacred and secular music.

PISSACCO WORK ON VIEW
At University Museum. One of the East's outstanding picture collections — featuring an important group of some 25 Piissacso's drawings and prints — is on exhibit at the Art Museum of Princeton University. Open to the public, the exhibition will run through the winter.

Pissacso's renowned contemporary, Henri Matisse, is represented in the Wintersteen collection in Paris, while still an under

"Woman in Blue," considered to be one of the artist's most important paintings of that decade. The collection offers a rare fare of 19th century masters — including works from the present collection assembled since the early 1860's. Mrs. Wintersteen began her long association with the Philadelphia Museum of Art, taking an active part in its development; she served as president of the Museum from 1964 to 1968. For the past decade she has also been a member of the Advisory Council of the Princeton University Art Museum.

The 20th century is represented by works of Aristide Maillol, George Rouault, Andre Derain, John Marin, Henry Moore and Andrew Wyeth. Among the more recent works are those by the Italian Mirko, Henry Bertoia and Louise Nevelson.

IT ALL DEPENDS...
On When Petrie Returns.
A week ago, Jeff Petrie was wondering about his future in the

PRINCETONIANS AT PENN: Charlie and Hugh Samson
are members of the Pennsylvania hockey team this winter.
Charlie is a senior, Hugh a sophomore. And both play defense. A brother, Peter, plays for the Penn freshmen.
Graduates of Andover, they are the sons of Mr. and Mrs.
Hugh Samson of 247 Brooklane Drive.

on the bench in street clothes and watched Columbia hockey Princeton, 76-52, he was wondering about his future in the Ivy League.

The Tigers' star, generally accepted as an early round draft selection by the pros if his physical condition is sound, suffered a severe ankle twist
Thursday in the final minutes of the Tigers' victory (79-58)
over Cornell at Ithaca. X-rays showed no fracture, but by Saturday he was on crutches and the ball game was clearly on Columbia's side of the ledger
before it began.

Ankle twists are a day-today affair, particularly since they must be tested in pre-game drills before action is resumed. Currently, hopes are that Petrie will be ready when the Tigers take the floor Friday night at Hanover but there can be no firm estimate of how much he will play against Dartmouth, and at Harvard the following night, until the time is at hand. Without him, the Tigers might well lose to the Indians on their floor, and could go down before an un-prosperous Harvard quiet at Cambridge.

Columbia, of course, is good enough to show Petrie's absence turned a potentially close battle into a slaughter for the Lions. It meant that both the "Seven Sisters" top players

Jim McMillan and Heyward
Dixon, could concentrate on John Hummer. The result was catastrophic. Petrie's and Hummer's combined average of 47 points a game was shaved all the way to 16, as the lone surviving co-captain went 4-for-15 from the floor and an even more miserable 2-for-9 in free throws.

Unusually Slow Start. The home team was as cold as Princeton at the start, following a two-week layoff for exams, and with better than four minutes gone, it was exactly 2-2. Very slowly, however, Columbia began to draw away and the evening's pattern became quite evident when the Lions opened up a 10-point gap with 12 minutes still to go in the first half.

By the intermission, it was 35-18, and a 10.2 margin that the Light Blue achieved as soon as play was resumed left only the eventual margin in doubt. Once, the losers saved their deficit to 14 (54-40) but it was generally in the neighborhood of 20 and reached its highest at the final buzzer.

McMillan, whom Hummer
has on occasion held completely in check, finished with 25.
Seasoned First Bird paced the Tigers with 16, but had to take 21 shots from the floor to make seven field goals.

Overall, the losers were no better than 36% from the floor and again failed to make half their free throws. They were also guilty of 21 turnovers, so that the game's 40 minutes ranked as an abject no experience they have had in Ivy action in several years.

CORNELL TROUNCED
Before Petrie Was Hurt. A available for 36 minutes before he injured his ankle at Cornell, Jeff Petrie scored 20 points as the Tigers found the undermanned Ithacans no problem
last Thursday. It was a sloppilyplayed game but one which the Tigers dominated throughout, leading at the half, 32 to 18, before winning, 79-58.

Cornell's top scorer, 6.5 Bill Schubert, who had been averaging nearly 18 points a game, was held to 8 by John Hummer. The latter made only a single field goal in the first 20 minutes but found the range thereafter to lead both teams with 22.
The Tigers hit on 56%
of their shots, aided by the accuracy of Bob Byrd. The more forward joined Hummer and Petrie in double figures
with 14.

We finally came up with a beautiful picture of a Volkswagen.

A Volkswagen starts looking good when everything else starts looking bad.

Let's say it's late at night and you can't sleep. It's 10 below and you forgot to put antifreeze in your car.

(A Volkswagen doesn't use antifreeze. Its engine is cooled by air.)

Let's say it's now morning: You start your car and the gas gauge reads Empty.

Let's say you notice on your way out of the driveway that every other car on your block is stuck in the snow.

IA VW goes very well in snow because the engine is in the back. It gives the rear wheels much better traction.)

Let's say you make it into town and the only parking space is half a space between a snow plow and a big, fat wall.

(A VW is small enough to fit into half a parking space.)

Let's say it's now 9:15 a.m. and the only other guy in the office is your boss.

(Now what could be more beautiful than that?)

PENN. HARVARD NEXT
For Tiger Skaters. Last place Pennsylvania, which soared to the heights of its short hockey history on Saturday by upsetting Harvard, will play host Thursday night to the Princeton hockey team on its rink at Cherry Hill. The Quakers, far below the 500 mark and winless in their first three league games, took the Crimson into overtime and then defeated it 5-4. Nothing like this had happened since Penn joined the league three years ago — last winter, the two games were won by Harvard by a total margin of 18 to 1.

Benefit Game Friday
The WHWH all stars will meet the YMCA Triangles at 8 p.m. Friday in the Princeton High School gym in a benefit performance for the YM-YWCA Gym Fund. Tickets are $1.
Members of the WHWH team are Jim Scanlon, Paul St. Cyr, Herb Hobler, R. A. Hobler, Jim Serdula, Barbara Mazur, Nancy Hobler, Dick Baker and Ron Stauffer.
Also on the program is a match between the Croswa-ford, a H.V. club in boxing gloves, and the Croswa-ford, a high school all-star girls team, plus entertainment by the Princeton Marching Band and the YMCA V.P. drill team.

Harvard, which once had hopes of challenging Cornell for the title but has since been beaten by both Penn and Brown, will be in Baker Rink Saturday at 2.

The Crimson has a fine goalie in Bruce Durno, an All-American in Joe Cavanaugh, who centers the first line, and far more depth than the Tigers can muster. It has been three years since Princeton last won from this Big Three rival.

Colgate is due at Baker Rink Tuesday night at 8. The Red Raiders, who won a year ago, 2-1, are the last not league foe on the schedule.

Northeastern Edged, 5-4. Comfortably ahead of a weak Northeastern sextet, 5-2, as the third period began, the Tigers gave up two more goals in the final round and had to hang on to record their second victory of the season Saturday. They have lost 10 and tied one.

Jon Wright, a forward on the second line, scored twice and added a pair of assists to pace the Orange and Black. The home team trailed 1-0 after six minutes of play, but drew even a minute later and was generally in charge of the action despite the close finish. Shots on goal favored the Tigers, 36 to 22.

As expected, it was a very different story three days earlier at Ithaca, where only another great performance by Captain Middy Tighman in the goal kept the Cornell game from becoming a rout. The Ivy champions, undefeated in 13 games this year, took 60 shots at the Tiger cage, winning 7 to 1.

It was 3-0 at the end of the first period and 5-0 before Jim Titterton averted a shutout for Princeton. His goal came at 12:01 of the second period, the victors adding two more in the final round.

WISSAHICKON BEATEN
By PDS Sextet. Putting 2 things together after a February first period, which saw them fall behind 2-1, the Princeton Day School hockey team scored three times in the second period and went on to dump Wissahickon, 5-2, last Friday at Wissahickon.
Wednesday afternoon the Panthers were scheduled a giant Hill School at home, in an attempt to garner their ninth victory. An away game against the Beacon Hill Club is scheduled for Wednesday.

PDS took an early lead against the visitors when Jim Rodgers scored on a pass from John Moore. However, Wissahickon tied the score after a scramble in front of the net, and went ahead 2-1 near the end of the first period, then goalie Chris Reeve could not quite control a shot.

In the second period, Peter McCandless and the second line tied the revitalized Panthers on a three-goal surge that turned the contest around. Coach Harry Ruon Miller credited McCandless with playing a fine game and hosting every second he was on the ice.

Art Mittnacht evened the score at 2-2, when he slipped in the rebound of a McCandless shot. A few minutes later Robbie Holt put in the go-ahead goal and finally McCandless fed Holt for the third tally.
PDS dominated action in the third period, scoring its final goal on a power play penalty, but as PDS was in control of the puck at the time the whistle was not blown. Deebe Young replaced Reeve, giving the Panthers a sixth skater, and got the goal on a pass from Buzz Woodward.

EWING MAULS PHS
Montgomery, THIS Next. At 56, John Owen is the amall est starter on Ewing's underfested basketball team. He plays on a team that owes its success to two outstanding big men who have done the lion's share of the scoring and rebounding and who, understandably, have received the lion's share of the headlines.
Probably never for a moment did Owen think he would outscore the entire Princeton High School basketball team in the first half. He did Friday night in the 1945 gym.

Owen made the last basket of the first quarter and the first basket of the second period. That's all—just four points, noting to get excited about.
Owen still won't get any headlines, but if he wants to be can tell his friends years from now about the time when he outscored an entire team in the first half.

PHS, shutout completely in the first period by Ewing and limited to three points in the half, will next play a team
eight years apart from Ewing in Albany. Whereas Ewing has one of its finest teams ever, Montgomery, which the Little Tigers will play home Friday evening at 8, is in its first year of varsity competition and winless. Its present senior class is the last one to attend PHS.

Tuesday evening at 8, PHS will play host to Trenton. After that, five games remain.

PHS Gym Jammed. The PHS gym was jammed Friday night. What the spectators saw was something straight out of the pages of the early Nets story. It was simply amazing.

With 2-23 to go in the first period and PHS still looking for its first point, some Ewing fans started to chant, "We want a shutout." They had it for the first period, anyway.

Bobby Sweeney got Princeton's first point, a foul shot 21 seconds into the second period. Jeff Haring scored the Little Tigers' only basket in the half with 4-21 to go in the quarter, converting a nice feed from Jeff Grouer for a driving layup.

That was it for the half.
Three points and one basket in 24 attempts for a seven percent float from the floor. Ewing had ten times as many points 30.

A Lot of Work to Do. After the game it was a 62-19 in 1945. Coach Larry Ivan could only shake his head. He turned to his boyce coach, Leonard Weister, and said,
"We've got a lot of work to do."

Dave Cuyler and Buzz Thomas, the two big men for Ewing, smothered PHS. Between them, they scored the game's first 15 points. After Cuyler opened the scoring with a foul shot, Thomas made 4-3-0. Cuyler made 4-9-0. Thomas 7-4-4 and Cuyler again 9-0. Two free throws by Thomas, two more by Cuyler, and a tap-in by Thomas and the score was 15-0.
The game was for all practical purposes over.

In sharp contrast was the play of Princeton's two big men, Paul Riddell and Pete Sizemore. Riddell, the Little Tigers' only scoring threat underneath, just didn't have it over again. He was benched but "Snar" was just as ineffective.

The Little Tigers couldn't hit from the outside nor could they drive through the Ewing defense. The few times they did, their shots were knocked down by Cuyler and Thomas.
Ivan said later that his team lost the game mentally, when it was understandable: the mere presence of Cuyler and Thomas could outscore any team.
Two long jumpers by Haring,
one at the buzzer, accounted for four of Princeton's six points in the third period.
Sweeney had four of his team's 10 points in the final stanza.
He finished with seven, one more than Haring, Tim Taggart, John Schmitt and Walt

THIS IS THE WAY IT WENT: One big reason why Princeton High School scored only three points in the first half against Ewing Friday night was the defensive play of the Blue Devils' big 6-6 center Dave Cuyler, shown here battling away an attempted layup by Bobby Sweeney of PHS (dark shirt). PHS lost, 62-19. Story on page 28.

ROUGH WEEK FOR HUN Germania. Next, last week for the Hun School quintet. . . "It was a rough one,"
said Dave Leete, Hun coach, who saw his team lose two of three games, including the important match with George School in which both teams entered the fray undefeated in Penn-Jersey League competition.

Friday in Philadelphia, Hun will oppose another team which owns a perfect league mark—Germania. Friends of this is it for Hun if it hopes to retain its league championship which it shared last year with Germania. Another league loss would virtually eliminate the Red and Black which still must play George School at again.

Next Wednesday afternoon at 2:15, Hun will entertain Perkinson in a league contest.
Hun defeated Perkinson earlier in the season in their first meeting.

Bow to St. Anthony's. Hun lost, 80-65, to St. Anthony's Saturday on the latter's court.
Hun fell behind in the first quarter, trailed 37-24 at the half and was never in the ball game. Virtually all of Hun's scoring was the product of three players: Mike Rossi contributed 14 and Mike Maguire and Rich Ziegler added 15 each.

The previous day, Hun overwhelmed league foe Moore-town Friends, 76-44, leading 38-14 at halftime.

For senior Mike Maguire, it was a red-letter game as he scored the 1,000th point of his Hun career. "As far as I know, he's the first player at Hun to do it," commented Leete.

Maguire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Maguire, 269
Hawthorne Avenue, who set records for St. Paul's School when he played in the Catholic Youth League, had 13 points against Moorestown. Resti was high for both teams with 22.

Earlier in the week, in his showdown game with George School, Hun battled the visiting Cougars on even terms for the first quarter, leading at

Four Players Honored

Keith Mauney was awarded the Poe Cup Monday night at the annual dinner of the Princeton University football team, an occasion which also saw three other players honored.
Mauney (see also page 29) was cited as a senior of ability "who exemplifies loyalty, courage and perseverance." The Caldwell Award for greatest improvement, during three years on the varsity went to Scott MacBreen, whose transition from tailback to T quarterback was so successful that he broke four Princeton records during the past season.

Tom Hutchinson, the big defensive tackle who was bothered by a chronic knee injury, received the McPhee Award for "qualities of durability and fortitude." A Freshman Bill Early won the Lourie Award for ability and leadership of outstanding qualities. A 190-lb fullback, he set a freshman record of ten touchdowns, while against Yale he ran for 289 yards, averaging better than eight yards per carry.

At the end of the first eight minutes of play, 17-16.

"Then we kind of fell apart,"
said Leete, George School coach, who racked up 23 points in the second quarter while his man-toman defense held Hun to 9.

George, 7-0 at the time, was led by its big center Ruffin Hobbs, who scored a game-high 26 points. Half of them came in the final period when George outscored Hun 23-12 to make it an 82-50 final.

Hun was led by Maguire, 20 points, Rossi, 12 points, and Crawford, 12 points. With the two defeats, Hun's record fell to 8-4.

PDS LOSSES TOUGH ONE

To Friends Central, that first win of the season, a long time coming for the Princeton Day School basketball team, might have been produced last Friday against Friends Central, except for a terrible third quarter, during which the Pon-thers dissipated a 13-point lead.

Friday at 3:15 against Moorestown at home, the Panthers with another chance to get that first victory,

if they don't manage to do it
this time, will have a Wednesday afternoon game at home against Pennington Prep.

Playing some of their best ball of the season against Friends, to make up for a very poor showing against the Lawrenceville varsity "B" team, the Panthers led, 14-6,
at the end of the first quarter and stretched their advantage to 33-20 at the half.

When the third quarter opened the Blue and White missed three straight lay-ups in the space of about two minutes and the momentum began to shift the other way. Friends was quick to take advantage and the buzzer sounded ending the period, it had a one point lead, 39-38.

PDS played catch-up ball in the final quarter, narrowing
the gap to three with 26 seconds left, but a pair of key rebounds went Friends
way and so did the final score, 39-31.

Coach Chan Jones termed
the game one of the squad's better efforts so far this season and cited Ruffin Hobbs for playing his best game to date, Martin had 15 points, Steve Bash was high man
with 20.

Against Lawrenceville, PDS went into a full court press and fell to pieces. "The Larries pretty much scored at will and won handily, 90-50. Bash again was high with 15 points; Carl Jacobelli had 12 and Dave Claghorn 10.

All boys who played in the league last year and their fathers have been invited. If a boy inadvertently was not sent an invitation, he may obtain one at the Y office. All requests to attend the banquet must be in the office by noon Friday.

The top award will go to the Princeton Hank Indians, man-

Three College Players Hopeful of NFL Careers

Two Princeton University football players, members of the 1969 Ivy League co-champions, and one from Rutgers who lives in Princeton will take a shot next fall at the long odds confronting rookies when they attempt to earn a living in the National Football League.

Keith Mauney, a standout safetyman for the Tigers in each of his three years on the varsity, last week became the third member of the trio when he was drafted in the 15th round by the Atlanta Falcons. An All-Ivy choice in both his junior and senior years, Mauney was steadily scouted by the pros for his quick diagnosis on pass defense and his speed — 4.6 seconds over 40 yards.

The 6-2, 195-lb. back joins Rutgers' Bruce Van Ness on the Falcons. A highly versatile performer, Van Ness began his career with the Scarlet as a quarterback, moved to running back when a shoulder separation continued to affect his passing, and capped a fine career by earning MVP honors on offense in the North-South game last December. He lives on Cedar Lane.

The other Princeton player selected is 6-5, 230-lb. Bob Hows, the defensive tackle who had a big role in the Tigers' drive to first place in the Ivy League after merely breaking even in their first four games. In their last five, Coach Jake McCandless' defensive platoon held the opposition to an average of 9.4 points, a major factor in Princeton's ability to rise to the top after finishing fourth in 1968. In the 37-year history of previous-yet-unknown Dartmouth, Hows was often an added starter in the Indians' backfield as he made life miserable for quarterback Jim Chaskey.

Although Hows was drafted relatively early by Superbowl champion Kansas City, he may have the toughest chance of the three from this area to survive the pre-season cuts. The Chiefs' front four have the three basic assets most difficult for a rookie to offset: youth, size and experience.

There is a possibility that Hows may get a shot at linebacking — he has good speed for a big man — or he could conceivably be switched to the offensive platoon as a center. If he is cut, he will at least have the temporary aura of having been picked by the top team in pro football, and such a reputation, however brief, may give him a chance to catch on elsewhere.

Neither Mauney nor Hows will sign a pro contract until June at the earliest. Both want to retain amateur standing until they graduate. Hows to compete in track as a weight man and Mauney to help give the Tigers a shot at another Ivy title in lacrosse.

A year ago, Tim McCann took the step prematurely, the big tackle signing during the winter as a free agent with the New York Giants. When he later took part in a Harvard-Yale-Princeton track meet in Jadwin Gym, his action came to light and the points he forfeited gave first place to Yale instead of Harvard and a red face to Princeton.

McCann is still New York property, surviving the final pre-season cut but spending most of the fall with the Long Island Bulls, a Giant farm team in the Atlantic Coast League. Dick Sandler, another member of the 1963 Tiger eleven, also signed with the Giants as a free agent but a shoulder injury incurred later playing squash kept him from reporting.

Other Tigers to make it to the NFL during the past decade were Charlie Gogolak, a first-round choice of the Washington Redskins in 1966 but currently in disfavor with Vince Lombardi because of decreasing accuracy in his placekicking; and Stas Maliszewski, a guard on the 1964 Ivy champions who was cut during the following exhibition season by the Baltimore Colts.

The fourth Princetonian drafted by the pros during the '60s was All-American Cosmo Iacovazzi, who eventually lost out to Matt Snell as the New York Jets' running back. In the early '50s, Tullie Donan, a big tackle, had a trial with the Giants; Frank McPhee, an All-American end there, played briefly for the old Chicago Cardinals; and Homer Smith, the fullback who captained the 1953 Tigers, tried out with the same team before its franchise was switched to St. Louis.

What is Christ?

Christ is the spirit of Truth and Love that Jesus taught and lived. It comes to each one of us when we are receptive to it.

No matter how far you may feel from the Christ, you can discover it for yourself. You can recognize its power to meet any situation.

You may learn how by coming to our study room and reading this week's Bible Lesson. It contains ideas that heal.

PHS MATMEN LOSE PAIR S. BRANWICK HERE MONDAY. There are bad days and there are bad days and the Princeton High School wrestling team experienced two of them last week.

Saturday, the Little Tigers were trounced, 32-6, by Livingston. Three days earlier, Haverdell Central defeated them by the same score. Both matches were away.

Coach Tom Murray's squad was also scheduled to wrestle this Wednesday morning in a match at Cedar Ridge. The team (7-4) needs a victory in all three final matches if it hopes to equal its 10-4 record of last year.

Against Livingston (4-3) on Sat. Mark Evans, 64, victor in the 115-pound class, and heavyweight Lee John Rossi triumphed for PHS. Rossi, defeated only once this season, defeated his opponent, 4-0. John Corbman, 136-pound entrant for PHS, lost his bout by one point, 6-5.

In Princeton against Hunterdon Central, the two lone decisions recorded by PHS were the work of Rossi and Chris Minton, 178-pounder. Rossi won, 5-3; Minton, 6-2.

AREA PLAYERS RANKED
For Junior USLTA Play, The Middle States Lawn Tennis Association has announced 1981 rankings for junior tennis players in Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Thirteen area players have achieved rankings, based on their performance last season.

Awarded top honors were Vicky Austin (ranked fourth in the girls' 14-and-under division). Mary Lupinus (ranked 14th in 16 and under, as well as eighth in the 18-and-under group), and Steve Tobolsky, who ranked ninth in 16 and under, and 14th in 18 and under.

Jim Lillie, Robert Kraft, Nick Glouchewitch and Steve Norick also received top rankings in the boys' 14-and-under division. Doreen Hicks, Randy Gulick and Sheri Garner were ranked among girls 14 and under, while Heidi Pickering, Mary Ellen Hirst and Terry Blake received ranking in both the 18 and under and 16 and under divisions.

In doubles, Mary Lupinus and Debbie Pickering were ranked sixth, while Randy Gulick and her partner Kathy Ford, of Wilmington, were ranked 14th.

All the local players are either in the Community Tennis Program or have graduated from it. To become eligible for ranking, a player must have entered three or more tournaments sanctioned by the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association. This year more junior players are expected to go on the tournament circuit because there will be a planning committee to coordinate the various events. Angie Austin and Sally Blake are co-chairing the girls' tournament circuit, and two boys' chairmen will be chosen at the February 18 meeting of the Junior Tennis Committee. Anyone interested in this phase of the program or any other area of junior tennis activity is welcome to attend, at the home of Linda Ferguson, 38 Crooked Tree Lane.

GRIS WIN, BOYS LOSE
In Close Swim Meets, In Flying Fish swim meets last week, both the boys' team and the girls' came down to the last relay race needing a first place for a victory.

The girls won and ripped Sommer, 100-100, for their second success in four meets. The boys, however, lost the final race and the meet, 100-88 to Somerset Valley. It was their second defeat in seven meets.

and let them tied with Montclair for second place in the "M" division of the YMCA Swim League.

For the boys, Beaver O'Hara set a new Princeton Y pool record of 13:3 in the 10 and under 25-yard freestyle. The girls scored a sweep in the breaststroke competition at Carol Wagner, 10 and under. Margaret Allison, 11:12; Rika Peron, 13:14; and Margaret Martin, 13:17, all won.

PIN PAIS NEW LEADER

In Bowling League Pin Pais of the Princeton Women's Bowling League finds itself this week in an unaccustomed position: first place.

The new leader took over top spot from Rocky and Sons, which dropped to third with 10 points. Rosco's Cifs has 12, four less than Pin Pais. Pleasant Package Store is tied with Rocky & Sons for third place.

Marlyn Silverstein of Rosco's was the individual top scorer, rolling 201-172. Teammate Kitty Thomas has 177. The next three were all members of Rocky & Sons: Alice Franzetta, 176; Evelyn Bailey, 173; and Lil Coleman, 171.

Rocky fashioned the high team game of 821: Rosco's the high team series of 2372. Helen Perrine converted the 18-9 and 5-7 splits.

BOWLING NOTES

Ruth Bonia Rolls 234. Ruth Bonin of Thorne Pharmacy in the Business Women's League rolled a 234 last week, her best game ever and the top score fashioned among all the women this season.

Mrs. Bonin had seven strikes, a string of four and then three more at the end for her 234 - 87 pins over her average. "It will probably never happen again, she said.

Marge Drummond rolled 199-176; Shirley Cassell 198-166; Diane Foster 181-176; and Mella Cramer, 168-164. Dail Perry rolled 174. In the 16s were Dot Thorsell, Sue Snyder, Marge Dancyo, Louise Puggill and Marilyn Wilson. Dot Thomas' 160 was 43 pins over her average.

Carrozzini has the lead after two weeks in the second half with nine points. Rocky Hall, University Cleaners and Plumming all have eight. Thorne's is third with seven.

Santo Texco of Italian American Sportsmen Club and Al Hicks of Tiger Garage rolled the high single game of 218 and 234 in the Nassau League. Al Rauch of P&S 300 and washed in a 235 between 18-187 for an even 600 series. Paul Stewart of Seedecker's had a 215. Ed Dayton and Ed Duncan Sr. rolled 206 and 204.

The Sportsmen Club gained a 22-22 tie with Tiger Garage for the lead, while Kingston Wine and Liquor took over second place with 20. Hill Climbers and P&S 300 are all even at 18 apiece.

In the A League, Bill Cayvanich of Ambers rolled a 223, while Craig Donaldson of Griggs Corner rolled a second.

ADR TO MOVE

Will Occupy New Building.
Applied Data Research, Inc. will move into new executive headquarters and computer research center on Route 205 next month.

The 31,000 square foot, two-story building is situated in the same area where the company previously occupied a smaller building for 10 months — January through mid-November, 1969. On November 13, a plane struck it and the fire that followed largely destroyed the building. Since then, ADR has been operating from several temporary facilities.

In the new building, the computer software company will have its executive offices, research center, programming staff and two computers, IBM 360/50 and PDP/10. A staff of more than 100 will work in the Applied Data Research building.

best 235. Both teams are tied for first place with 29 points each. Bill Bareilly of Stefanelli's had a pair, 227-206, and Trap Rock's Larry McHugh fashioned a 235. Bart DeMeo and Vick Rossi pulled 216. Between 210 and 200 were Claude Pinelli, John Balestrieri, Wes Cawley, Dick Fowler, Les Gibbs, Jack Lacey and Frank Cawley.

In second place behind the leaders is Princeton Inn with 18 points, followed by Nassau Market and Balestrieri, each with 15. Three other teams are bunched at 14.

Lawrenceville captured the lead from No. 1 in the second week of play in the second half of the Tri-County Firemen's League. Lawrenceville has 10 points, while No. 1 fell into a four-way tie, two points back, with No. 3 Princeton Junction and R.P.D.

Five players on Lawrenceville all fashioned games a base 200. They are Bud Reading, 231; Bob Richardson, 217; Bob McIniskel, 213; John Macle, 209; and Bill Richardson, 201. Rocky Hall's Ed Lemore tossed the most pins — 625 on games of 192-215-188. Wally Brown of Princeton Junction rolled 191-179-223 — 593. (in an eight-team tournament February 27-28 at Wasshack of 200). Others between 215 and 200 were Bill Davall, Stan Tantum, Elmer Peratoni, and Stanley Donald, Frank Skafko of Kingston rolled a 251.

PIS SKATERS SPLIT

Grandford Here Friday. The Princeton High School Hockey team split last week, defeating Brick Township Saturday, 5-1, and losing, 3-0, earlier in the week to Lawrenceville to keep its record even at 4-4.

Munday's game at Summit was canceled when rain made the Summit outdoor rink unplayable. Because of a lack of open dates, compounded by vacation week in February, coach Dan McGuire reported the contest would not be rescheduled.

Next, the Little Tigers will oppose Grandford Friday evening at 8 at the PDS rink, following which the team will be idle until a February 17 meeting with Wasshackon. McGuire also revealed that PHS has been invited to participate in an eight-team tournament February 27-28 at Wasshack of 200. Others between 215 and 200 were Bill Davall, Stan Tantum, Elmer Peratoni, and Stanley Donald, Frank Skafko of Kingston rolled a 251.

PHS had little difficulty in defeating Brick Township for the second time this season—this time on the losers' home ice. John Weber scored two goals for PHS, while Hugh Filatnick, John Holder and Steve Sanford added single goals. When he was pulled midway in the final period, PHS goalie Mike Tomlinson had shutout the home team, which scored in the final 38 seconds.

"We had a bad first period against them when we got behind 3-0," commented McGuire on the Lawrenceville game. The second period was scoreless.

McGuire attributed much of the success to the team this year to his assistant, Graham Nevins, a student at Princeton University. "He's spent an evening lot of time teaching the boys, and he's helped out a lot," said McGuire.

Obituaries

Sp. 3 Norman R. Everett, 22, of 3111 Vetterline Avenue, Lawrence, Mo., formerly of Princeton Junction, died Sunday, January 25, in Vietnam. He was a passenger on a vehicle which swerved to avoid an accident, causing him to fall to the roadway.

Mr. Everett attended grade school in Princeton and was graduated from Princeton High School. The family lived in Princeton Junction until last October. In August 1967, he was to be drafted, but he enlisted in the Army when he arrived at the Newark induction center. After a year in Vietnam, he was assigned to Fort Hood, Texas, where he re-enlisted. After six months in Texas he returned to Vietnam last summer and was killed in action while serving as an Asian tour last August.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Everett; Mrs. Judith Marx, whose husband is also in Vietnam and met with Mr. Everett just before his death; another sister, Mrs. Shirley Voa Schmidt of Princeton, and a brother, Elmer Jr. of Trenton. His father is employed by the American Cyanamid Company in Princeton.

The funeral will be held Thursday at noon at the Saint Colonial Home, Hamilton Square, where he will be in the DuChock Cemetery.

Mrs. Kittie P. Brown, 82, a native of Princeton, died February 1 in a nursing home in Windsor. A former employee of the C. Marshall Co., she had been a resident of Trenton and was a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club there. She was the widow of James T. Brown.

The service was held at a Trenton funeral home. The Rev. Jay K. Helms of Princeton Methodist Church officiating. Entombment was in Greenwood Abbey.

William J. Warren, 36, formerly of Princeton, died January 25 in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was a retired building contractor.

Mr. Warren was born in Princeton and was a charter member of the trustees of Princeton Country Day School. He was a long-time member of the Mercer County Republican Executive Committee, and a member of the Carriere Club of Trenton and the Avon Club of Avon, N. J. He had homes in Riverside, Conn., and Harbor Island, Bahamas. He was instrumental in formulating the Princeton Borough building code.

Surviving are three sons, William J. Jr., of Trenton; Edward G. of Princeton; and Joseph of Riverside, Conn.; a daughter, Mrs. George N. Nelson of East Orange; four grandchildren and a great-granddaughter, and a brother, Frank L. Warren of Penningside.

The service was held in the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. Robert N. Smyth of Trinity Episcopal Church, Rocky Hill, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven R. Hostein, of 21 Adams Drive, died January 24 in Princeton Hospital. The child was born on January 3. In addition to her parents, she is survived by a brother, Eric.

John Bischoff, 78, of 186-G Source Circle, died January 30 in the Merwick Unit of Princeton Hospital after a brief illness.

He was a draftsman at RCA for 25 years, retiring in 1946. A native of New York City and a Princeton resident since 1944, Mr. Bischoff was a member of the Princeton Lawn Tennis League and a veteran of the Army, serving during World War II.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Roland E. Gaudier of Princeton Junction; a son, Horace G. Bischoff of Parsippany; six grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Henry C. Rumbach of Brooklyn and a brother, Henry Bischoff of Bay Shore, L. I.

The service was held in the Lutheran Church of the Messiah, to be Rev. Dr. Gerald officiating. Interment was in Evergreen Cemetery, Brooklyn, under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Millicent Elvion McEneaney, 81, of 1444 R. Rose, Hopewell, died January 29 in the Greenleaf Extension, Moores town, after a brief illness. A retired Shakespearean actress, she was the last surviving member of the Ben Greet Players.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Edith Perrine of Monmouth Junction, and Mrs. Irene Pang of Uxley, Mich.; Mrs. Elizabeth Jacob of Lambertville and Mrs. Maxine Hall of Allentown; 27 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Doris Warner of Allentown, Pa., and Mrs. Gertrude Anderson of Florida; and a brother Leonard Peck of Hartford.

A private service will be held at 9 a.m. this Thursday in the A. S. Cule Funeral Home, Cranbury with the Rev. William Mackoff, pastor of Plainsboro Presbyterian Church, officiating. Contributions may be made to the memorial fund of her church.

Mrs. Helen Rehork, 71, of 11 North Main Street, Pennington, died January 31 in St. Francis Hospital. She was the widow of Max E. Rehork.

Pennington resident for more than 25 years, Mrs. Rehork was a former member of the Order of Eastern Star of Florida.

A daughter, Mrs. Howard Baldwin of Pennington, survives her.

A private service was held in Pennington. Interment was in Gwinn Cemetery. Memorial gifts may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Elizabeth K. Meffingh of 19 Moran Avenue died February 1 in Princeton Hospital after a brief illness. Born in Staten Island, she had been a Princeton resident for the past 30 years.

Wife of James E. Mottagh, she also survived by a sister, Mrs. Fern Levee of Ballston, Canal Zone.

A memorial service will be held Saturday at 11 at the Kimble Funeral Home. The Rev. P. Hugh Loftin, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, will officiate.

RABBI LEVEY TO TALK
On Post-Biblical Judaism.
Rabbi Irving M. Levey, chaplain emeritus to Jewish students at Princeton University, will deliver a series of four lectures, "Judaism After The Bible," beginning this Thursday at 6 p.m. in the Princeton Jewish Center.

The first rabbi of the Jewish Center and former director of Princeton Hillel Chapter, Rabbi Levey is professor of Hebrew at Hebrew Union College, professor Talmud and Codes at Leo Baeck College in London, and lecturer at Princeton University and Manchester University.

The topic on Thursday will be "The Midrash Agadah, in Interpretation of the Torah." Future lectures will cover additional post-Biblical literature, including liturgy, mysticism, poetry and philosophy as intellectual and inspirational in interpretations of the Torah. The Adult Education Committee is sponsor.

Interfaith Parley Begins Sunday

Scientific developments such as the breaking of the genetic code, the manipulation of human behavior through drugs and subliminal suggestion, and the test tube creation of life, will be examined from the standpoint of the moral role of religious leadership this week at the first national consultation between Presbyterian and Jewish scholars.

Meeting at the Nassau Inn for three days, beginning on Sunday, the conference is sponsored by the Council on Theological Education of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee.

It will bring together 30 theologians from Presbyterian seminaries and from the Orthodox, Conservative and Reform branches of Judaism and Jewish institutions.

Participants from Princeton include Charles T. Fritsch, professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Literature at Princeton Seminary; Sheldon Leshner, professor of Religion at Princeton University; and Rabbi Norbert Samuelson, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation at the University.

BULLETIN NOTES

A Pinata Party will be held at 8 p.m. this Tuesday at Christ Congregation, to welcome the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer back from their 10 weeks' "Leaving Leave." The leave was a gift from the congregation in recognition of 10 years' ministry in Princeton. During the first half of the leave, the Rev. Mr. Dannenhauer was employed at Bloomberg's, New York City, he and his wife later travelled in Mexico.

Rev. Peston Craigbill will discuss "China, Asian Giant" at the meeting of the WSCS of Christ Methodist Church this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the church social hall. He is a missionary to Taiwan now on leave for study at Princeton Seminary. Mrs. John L. Johnson, WSCS president, will preside. Mrs. Wilbert C. Stewart and other members of the executive committee will serve refreshments.

Church Women United of Princeton are planning to mark World Day of Prayer with services at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on March 6 in Waterpoon Street Presbyterian Church. The theme, "Take Courage," will be presented by students from foreign countries who are living in the area. Mrs. Donald S. Wolf of Kingston Presbyterian Church is chairman. Mrs. Orion Unger of First Presbyterian Church, is CWU president.

"Project Day" will be held from 10 to 3 p.m. Monday by the Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church, with items designated for Alabama, South Carolina, Korea and India this year. All interested women, non-members and non-joiners as well, are invited to join in the work on layettes, girls' clothing, alghams, scarves, pajamas and draw string bags, bringing their own scissors and similar tools. Participants are asked to supply their own lunch; dessert will be provided by Circle 3 Nursery care is available in the morning.

Unitarian Youth will host a denominational conference of 140 high school students from the Middle Atlantic states this weekend, centering discussion on "The Nature of Man." A luncheon on "Rites People Play" will be led by Ed Baskley of Princeton High School. Other leaders are William Peckham, Jr. of Bonham House of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation; Dr. Bart Hoeber, psychologist; and Mrs. Cynthia Ward. Workshop topics include "Drama Now," "To Kill or Not to Kill Other Men," "Aggression," play readings, "Rock Music in Today's Society," "Man's Attitude Toward Order, Men," and "Black Poetry."

This weekend's seminar at Princeton Theological Seminary, "An Exploration in Dialogue between the Church and the Law," will be led by Dr. James W. Wallace, associate professor of law and director of the professional responsibility program at the University of Denver's law school. Invited guests included practicing and student lawyers and clergy.

TAKE A GIANT STEP

backwards to a time of gracious living. This one hundred and seventy two year old beauty retains all the elegance and charm of a bygone day — with the added comfort and conveniences of our own. Welcoming center hall, spacious step down living room with impressive fireplace wall and french doors leading to a walled and flagstoned terrace wrapped around two sides of the house. The dining room across the hall features an antique fireplace mantel and original panelling. There is a cozy den with co-coated bar and fireplace, and a workable modern kitchen.

Upstairs — master bedroom with beamed ceiling, fireplace, dressing room and bath; two other bedrooms — one with fireplace — and bath. And, on the third floor, a large dormitory room — big enough for a billiard or pool table, as well as built in bunk beds — and still another bath.

Flavoring includes wide floor boards and mellow old panelling. With large barn, two car garage, shed/workshop, this is offered on approximately four acres bordering a small private lake. West of town location, and just minutes away.

Offered at $125,000

ANTIQUES

Why do we value them? Because they were made by men who took a deep and abiding pride in the work of their hands. And it is the essence of this pride, remaining forever a part of the work produced, that makes the antique priceless.

Both the pride and the product are all but gone today. But not at Cane Farm. The humble and patient craftsmanship still re-creates the finest from our oldest and most revered traditions... furniture, lamps, floor coverings, fabrics. Here, too, your old things can be painstakingly restored, your chairs reupholstered or re-rushed.

Whether you want tomorrow's heirlooms crafted to your own specifications or you select from our extensive sampling of wooden antiques, the product will be in every sense, be worthy of the name, ANTIQUE, in generations to come.

COMPACT...CUTE...COZY
CLOSE-IN...AND SUNNY

Maximum Ease and Comfort, Minimum Maintenance for the starting couple, or for the wise couple who's got it made and wants to keep it that way. Walk comfortably to most neighborhood conveniences from a community of houses priced in the $30's and $40's. It's a bright and artfully designed two bedroom house with an archway living room, a formal dining room, a handy, spacious kitchen and powder room that belong to a larger house. Of course there are bedrooms upstairs... two new ones, with lots of closet and undergarment storage, and a really tiled bath. We can show you this design for living within two minutes of our center of town office. $39,500

HIGH ON A BLUFF
OVERLOOKING THE
MILLSTONE RIVER

An attractive custom built stone and stucco house on one floor. The fireplace opens to both living room and dining room; there is a covered flagstone patio as well as a jalousied breezeway. The kitchen is beautifully designed and equipped and there are 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and a two-car garage. $16,900

HANDSOME COLONIAL IN

Invest In Marco Island

It's the kind of place you'd build if you had $500 million.

More than $500 million will eventually be spent on the complete development of Marco Island. But more than $25 million has already gone into it. . . that's what's been invested in fun facilities.

Things like a par 72, 18-hole golf course. A fully equipped marina for boats of all types and sizes. A 4,000-ft. airstrip, complete with Unicomb. Tennis courts. A spacious luxurious Yacht Club. The beautiful Marco Beach Hotel and Villas.

And, of course, Marco Island has all the other community facilities. Schools, churches, a shopping center, apartments and more. There's only one thing Marco Island doesn't have. That's a lot of land left. Over 80% of the property has been sold to others like yourself. When the other 20% is gone, there just won't be any more. And that 20% includes choice locations that have just been released for sale. Marco Island. . . the last major island property of its kind in Florida.

CALL COLLECT TODAY (215) 667-1040

Marco Island is located in the Gulf of Mexico, off Southern Florida's West Coast. This also happens to be one of Florida's fastest growing areas. For complete information on the long term investment merit of Marco Island, call or write today.
